THE "HOME MARKET" FALLACY.

Here, let us say, is a farmer located on bit of land a hundred miles away from the nearest city. That city is his market. There are farmers all about him; he cannot sell to them either his staple products or the occasional surplus of fruit or garden stuff which unusually good seasons may bring upon his hands. He must carry everything to the city. The cost of transportation is so much taken from his profits.

Here steps in the Protectionist. There is in this region, say, a stream capable of abundant power. "Let us put up a woolen mill here," the Protectionist urges; "let us agree to pay something more than we pay now for woolen stuff, and so make it an object for some one to come here and start a manufactory. Hundreds of hands will be employed; the railway will be put through. We will build up a town right in the midst of our farmstead. We will have a market at our doors. Good prices then for everything. It is done. The mill is built, and the railway is laid; the town and the depot. And the farmer of the region?"

That is all there is to it.

What the American farmer most needs is a "Home Market" in which he can purchase his supplies as cheaply as his competitors purchase theirs; and if he cannot secure this, then he should have the poor privilege of making his purchases where he is permitted to bring his goods home without being compelled to pay unreasonable taxes and fines for carrying on legitimate business.

THE PROOF OF THE PUDDING.

Struggle, the three invaders of the peace were overpowered. They were put in a wagon, and a charge of a guard, started your protection; just before reaching your home, Walker leaped from the all you can raise. disappeared in the 1861 we have had tariff and Court protection, and manufacturers have developed, and mill-owners have grown wealthy.

But this is not all. The promise of higher prices for wheat in the "Home Market" calls for scrutiny. The appeal sifted down, comes to this: "Pension a number of corn consumers to come and buy of you. Subsidize an army of artisans to settle at the farmgate. Pay them for making goods at a loss, and out of their profits they will purchase your abundance."

This, however, is not the worst. It is but fair to admit that through the protectionist logic was always at fault and the farmer never helped by "protection," yet that, in fact the farmer did use to have the "Home Market" for which he bargained—paltry as might be the whistle for which he had paid so dear. But nowadays there is no such thing as a "Home Market" for any considerable portion his produce. The farmer in the Genesee Valley not merely sees the trains run past him to Rochester, laden with flour rolled in Minneapolis from Dakota wheat, but uses the same flour in his own household, and his village butcher sells fresh meat from beaves killed at Kansas City. No manufacturing town dreams nowadays of looking to the locality about it for any supplies, except only the cheapest part of its "garden truck." The labor markets of the world are open to the American manufacturer, who thus has free trade in the one thing he buys most of—labor. He lives in a land where transportation facilities are so developed that he need not depend upon the locality about him—and he does not—in a country, whose surplus of food products is so great that their first price fixing markets are found at Liverpool, a free trade city—and so he gets them, too, at free trade rates. The American farmer has sold his birthright and has lost his pottage to boot.

The Home Market theory may be briefly stated as follows: If you farmers will only give us manufacturers enough money to enable us to go into business, and will consent to pay prices high enough to make it possible for us to continue our business, we will agree to buy our supplies—what we must have from some source—from you at low and steadily diminishing prices—if we can't get them cheaper elsewhere.

That is all there is to it. What the American farmer most needs is a "Home Market" in which he can purchase his supplies as cheaply as his competitors purchase theirs; and if he cannot secure this, then he should have the poor privilege of making his purchases where he is permitted to bring his goods home without being compelled to pay unreasonable taxes and fines for carrying on legitimate business.

As to the "Home Market" fallacy, no logic is half so remorseless and resistless as that of experience. It has been worked out thoroughly under ideal circumstances, the characteristic nature of which no one can question. Before the war no States were more thriving in agriculture than New York, Connecticut, and Massachusetts. And they earliest of all developed their manufactures, and throughout their length and breadth built factories of "protection" industries on every hand.

There never was a population more alert to exploit a home market; there never were manufacturers better placed to create such a market if it could be created. What is the result? In a speech at Carroll, Ia., Sept. 15, Gov. Boies, referring to this same home market theory said: "But there is one class, our Republican friends tell us, that can always be depended upon to uphold the great American system of protection. It is the farmer of the country. Now, this includes myself, and I want to know why we should uphold that system. They tell us in the first place that if we will wait long enough it will give us a home market for all the products of our farms and save the expense of sending any part of it to a foreign market. How long will this take, we ask. They do not tell us this, and so we must reason for ourselves. If we consult statistics we find that three-fourths of all our exports come from the farms of the nation; that in a single year we have sent abroad the round numbers of $800,000,000 worth of these products. At a glance we can see that if we are to wait until conditions so change in this country as to provide a home market for all the products of all our products of all of our farms not one of us will be here to enjoy the change.

In the spring of 1891 the farmers of Iowa sold their oats of the crop of 1890 for fifty cents a bushel. In the spring of 1892 they sold equally good grain of the crop of 1891 for one-half that money. What did the McKinley bill have to do with these prices? This and nothing more—it kept out of our markets some of the products of labor in other countries. Nations are like individuals. They trade with those who trade with them. For five years—from 1884 to 1889 both the Protective Tariff League, and part of which have already been quoted above,) we find that during a period of thirty-nine years (1850-1889) population and the production of the more important staples increased as follows:

Population	175 per cent.
Cattle	185 "
Swine	96 "
Cotton	291 "
Corn	267 "
Wheat	389 "
Oats	411 "

That is to say, after a whole generation of protection and unparalleled growth of manufactures the number of people in the United States whom the farmer has to feed is less in proportion to the crops he produces than it was in 1850. Or to put in another way, the American farmer, after protectionists have fooled him for thirty years in pretending to give him a home market and make him independent of foreigners, is today, under high protection, more independent than ever upon foreign markets, and is now forced to find sale abroad for a larger proportion of what he produces than in 1850 under the "Free Trade" tariff.

As to the "Home Market" fallacy, no logic is half so remorseless and resistless as that of experience. It has been worked out thoroughly under ideal circumstances, the characteristic nature of which no one can question. Before the war no States were more thriving in agriculture than New York, Connecticut, and Massachusetts. And they earliest of all developed their manufactures, and throughout their length and breadth built factories of "protection" industries on every hand.

There never was a population more alert to exploit a home market; there never were manufacturers better placed to create such a market if it could be created. What is the result? In a speech at Carroll, Ia., Sept. 15, Gov. Boies, referring to this same home market theory said: "But there is one class, our Republican friends tell us, that can always be depended upon to uphold the great American system of protection. It is the farmer of the country. Now, this includes myself, and I want to know why we should uphold that system. They tell us in the first place that if we will wait long enough it will give us a home market for all the products of our farms and save the expense of sending any part of it to a foreign market. How long will this take, we ask. They do not tell us this, and so we must reason for ourselves. What did the McKinley bill have to do with these prices? This and nothing more—it kept out of our markets some of the products of labor in other countries. Nations are like individuals. They trade with those who trade with them. For five years—from 1884 to 1889 both inclusive—it had cost $8 and a few cents per acre to raise and market corn in Iowa if the farmer was paid for his labor the usual wages of like workmen in other lines of business. Taking the best statistics attainable as to the average yield of the crop throughout the State during the same years, and the average price paid for the same in our local markets soon after harvest, it was found that the crop had sold for $7.33 an acre, or sixty-seven-sevenths cents less than it had cost to produce it, saying nothing about the use of the land on which it was grown.

"I used these figures in an address delivered in New York, at a banquet given by the Tariff Reform League, in the winter of 1890-91. Not one of them was my own. The estimate of the cost of producing corn was based solely upon the opinion of practical farmers in our own State, and the yield per acre and the market price were taken from the most reliable statistics attainable. They presented, however, a most startling fact. Which demonstrated a truth of which the farmers themselves had been aware, for they showed that during those years they had been producing the most important crop raised on our farms at a very heavy loss. Their labor was calculated at the price others received for similar work in other lines of business."

DEATH IN A BOX.

A Powerful Explosive Arranged To Ignite When Opened.

New York, Sept. 17.—The life of Gov. Roswell P. Flower was threatened by an infernal machine sent to him at Windsor Hotel, this city, Wednesday night.

The box which contained the machine is now in the hands of Chief Inspector Steers, at police headquarters, together with the infernal machine and its mechanical arrangements. A large number of detectives have been put on the case. Every effort was at first made to suppress the fact that the box left at the hotel contained a deadly machine and enough giant powder to have blown the Governor into eternity.

The affair was sent to Gov. Flower by mail. It was received at the hotel office and sent to the Governor's room by a clerk. Gov. Flower had gone away in the morning to inspect the State oyster beds along the sound. When the package was received, it was carelessly laid aside, as every one at the time was busy attending to other matters. When the package was finally opened it was found to contain a box so curiously made up that no one could open it, and detectives were sent for. After Inspector Steers had satisfied himself that the Governor's life had been in danger, he had a consultation with Superintendent Byrnes, and immediate steps were taken to run down the perpetrator of the affair.

Chief Inspector Steers at a late hour this afternoon for the reporters at headquarters, and told them that the box sent to Gov. Flower was a veritable, unmistakable infernal machine, ingeniously contrived to kill the Governor or whoever might open it. The Inspector said that the box was received Wednesday night, and before it was opened there was received an anonymous letter warning the Governor of its character. Adjutant General Porter sent to police headquarters and detectives went to the Windsor Hotel where the box was given to them.

The brought it down to police headquarters and delivered it the Inspector, who put in a pile of water and left it there to soak for twenty-five minutes. In the box was found three-quarters of a pound of giant powder. A lever was connected with the cover of the box, and when the latter would be raised three parlor matches fastened to the lever would be rubbed against a piece of emery paper on the side of the box and ignited, thus causing the explosion of the powder.

The Northwest.
(St. Paul Globe.)

A few more than ordinarily foolish Republican newspapers, proceeding on the supposition that braggadocio wins battles, dismiss as mere "rainbow-chasing" the Democratic pretensions to carrying the Northwest next November. The substantial nature of the rainbow is indicated by the election returns of two years ago, when results in the Northwest were as follows:

Michigan—Democratic vote, 186,649; Republican vote, 177,023.

Illinois—Democratic vote, 340,040; Republican vote, 311,320.

Iowa—Democratic vote, 194,832; Republican vote, 185,172.

Wisconsin—Democratic vote, 161,991; Republican vote, 128,189.

Nebraska—Republican vote, 72,879; opposition vote, 135,523.

Kansas—Republican vote, 122,682; opposition vote, 107,523.

Minnesota—Republican vote, 88,111; opposition vote, 144,357.

This was the verdict of 1890. The issues are the same now as then. It is the veriest absurdity to assume that in twenty-four months the voters of these States have experienced such a change of heart as to make Republican success in them assured, or even probable. The entire Northwest is doubtful, and by vigorous effort can be carried for low-tax principles.

A WILD TOBOGAN SLIDE.

Nine Miles Down the Pike's Peak Road in Eleven Minutes and a Quarter.

Colorado Springs, Colo., Sept. 17.—Ross Ward, a cog road conductor, yesterday performed a remarkable and most perilous feat. He wagered $25 that he could descend Pike's Peak from the United States Signal House on the summit to Manitou, a distance of nine miles, in 15 minutes. He constructed a rude tobogan, fitted it to the rails of the cog road and controlled it by means of a rudder which was placed in contract with the cog rail in the middle of the tracks. He safely made the trip in 11 minutes and 15 seconds.

SIX BOYS AT A BIRTH.

A Poor Tennessee Mountaineer's Wife Breaks the Record All to Smash.

Knoxville, Tenn., Sept. 17.—The wife of Charles Billings, a poor mountaineer living in Ashley county, has given birth to six children, all boys. They weigh from four and a half to nine pounds each; and are all alive. Mrs. Billings has four other children, but they were all born singly.

ANARCHY AND DEATH.

A Race War in Which Many Were Killed or Wounded.

Camden, Ark., Sept. 19.—Startling news reached this city to-day from Calhoun county. A race war, with all its atrocities is prevailing over there, and the hitherto quiet bailiwick has suddenly been transformed into a region of anarchy and death. Many rumors have gained circulation, some probably unreliable, but several corroborated each other, and out of the whole the following is probably true:

For the past several days the negroes living in the southeastern portion of the county, a region in which they outnumbered the white people six to one, have been very restless because of the white-capping of some of their race by unknown parties. The punishment was administered on account of outrageous behavior of the victims. Allowing this discontent to brew into rage, the negroes have been roving the country within the last few days in bands armed to the teeth, and muttering threats of the most incendiary nature. So bold did the marauders become that on meeting white people in the road they would insult and threaten them outrageously. Small gangs of negroes were continually riding over the country behaving in this manner; and soon such conduct became unbearable.

The whole matter culminated Saturday morning near Rayford, when a battle between the whites and negroes occurred, in which three of the latter were killed and seven wounded.

IMMIGRATION STATISTICS.

Fifteen Thousand Immigrants Would Have Landed But for the Restrictions.

Washington, D. C., Sept. 17.—Statistics of the immigration into the United States for the month of August last have just been compiled. The figures are interesting as showing what might have been expected during the current month if no check had been interposed on the influx. There were 45,472 immigrants landed in the month. These were almost exactly the figures of the previous year; 35,000 of them came by way of New York, 4,000 through Boston, 3,500 through Baltimore and 2,500 through Philadelphia. Germany contributed 10,500 of them and Russia 5,000 more. In other words, if immigration had not been practically suspended there would have been 15,000 immigrants from cholera-infected districts shipped to the United States in the month of August.

DEATH-DEALING GALE.

Three Hundred Killed and Injured and 42,000 Houses Destroyed.

San Francisco, Sept. 16.—News reached here to-night that 300 persons were killed and badly injured in a recent gale in the Tokushima district, in China. Twenty thousand acres of land were devastated by inundations and 42,000 houses destroyed. An epidemic of dysentery has visited Kinshu and Spikou, and in the Oita prefecture 116 deaths occurred between July 31 and August 6. Thirty-two occurred in the Kumanoto prefecture from this cause up to August 1. In the infected sections new cases are daily reported.

Win The Prizes At The Judicial District Convention at Princeton Friday.

A Large Convention and a Lively Time.

Pursuant to the call the Democratic Judicial District Convention of the Fourth district composed of the counties of Crittenden, Caldwell Livingston and Hopkins, was held at Princeton Friday, Sept. 16, to nominate candidates for Circuit Judge and Commonwealth Attorney. P. S.
Maxwell of Crittenden called the convention to order, and after stating the object of the convention
stated that the first thing in order was the selection of a temporary chairman and secretary.

Dr. P. B. Davis, of Hopkins county, was chosen chairman without opposition; and T. J. Hill, was unanimously made secretary.

The following resolution was adopted:

Resolved, That the Temporary Chairman appoint as a committee on Permanent Organization, one representative from each county in this district, and that he appoint as a committee on Credentials, one representative from each county in this district.

The Chairman in accordance with the resolution appointed the following committees:

ON PERMANENT ORGANIZATION.
John Blue, Sr., of Crittenden.
F. W. Darby, of Caldwell.
J. J. Glenn, of Hopkins.
Jas. Davis, of Livingston.

ON CREDENTIALS.
J. F. Dempsey, of Hopkins.
F. M. Clements, of Crittenden.
Chas. Webb, of Livingston.
Wm. Carter, Sr., of Caldwell.

While the committees were preparing reports the convention adjourned until 1 o'clock.

The convention convened at 1 o'clock, and the committee on permanent organization, made the following report, which was adopted:

1st. We report the name of John Grayott, of Smithland, Ky., as Permanent Chairman of the Convention.

2d. We suggest the name of T. J.
Hill, of Princeton, Ky., as Permanent Secretary, and J. J. Glenn, of Madisonville, Ky., and R. C. Walker, of Marion, Ky., as Assistant Secretaries.

3d. We suggest that the Chairman appoint two members of each county to be named by the delegates from said counties a Committee on Resolutions.

4th. That all resolutions be referred to this committee without debate.

J. W. BLUE, Sr., Ch'm.

After considerable delay the committee on credentials made its report. The report showed all the precincts properly represented, except Lola, there being no delegate and no credentials from this precinct. The Panhandle precinct in Livingston county was represented by delegates with proper credentials,
but it was found that under the call made by the Judicial Committee, Panhandle, being an entire Magisterial district and having cast 18 votes for Brown in '91, was not entitled to representation in the convention. Capt. Allen, chairman of the Judicial Committee, and who had written the call, explained that it was not the intention of said committee to disfranchise Panhandle precinct, as the committee did not know that Panhandle was an entire Magisterial district and hence could not join another precinct in electing delegates. He therefore moved that Panhandle delegates be admitted to seats in the Convention, which motion was unanimously carried.

The report of the committee on credentials was adopted. After which the report of the committee on permanent organization was adopted. Messrs. J. W. Blue and J. F.
Dempsey were appointed to notify Mr. Grayott of his election; he was escorted to the stand and introduced to the convention. He thanked the convention for the honor, and in accepting it, he made a short but pointed speech, briefly outlining the situation of national, and district politics, and enunciating the true Democratic position. His speech was roundly applauded.

The Chairman announced that nominations for Circuit Judge were in order. When the name of Caldwell county was called, Capt. O. T.
Allen arose and in a graceful and touching manner withdrew from the fight and placed Judge Nunn in nomination. His reference to his long service in the party, and fealty to its principles, and willingness to bow cheerfully always to its orders made a tear glisten in many pairs of eyes in the convention. In mentioning his opponent's name he said:

Mr. President, I now nominate for the Circuit Judgeship of this district Thomas J. Nunn, of Crittenden my neighbor, my personal and political friend for twenty years, the honorable gentleman with whom I made an honorable contest for this nomination. I know him well. I assure you and the people generally that he is worthy and deserving of the office and will fill it, as I believe,
with credit to himself and satisfaction to all, and I ask that his nomination be made by acclamation.

At the close of the speech the convention unanimously nominated
Nunn, and when the committees, composed of C. T. Allen, C. H. Webb and Fletcher Dempsey, conducted the nominee to the stand, the convention went wild with enthusiasm.
In a handsome manner Judge Nunn thanked the convention for the honor, spoke in the highest terms of his late opponent, and alluded to the warm friendship existing between them, and the friendliness of the canvass.

The roll of counties for nominations for Commonwealth's Attorney was called. Mr. J. Bell Kevil in a befitting speech placed L. H. James name before the convention. Mr. L.
Linley of Livingston said: "In the name of 1000 Democrats of Livingston county, I second the nomination of L. H. James. When the name of Hopkins county was called, Mr.
Fletcher Dempsey in a masterly speech presented the name of J. F.
Gordon. Dr. Davis of Hopkins seconded this nomination in a happy style. Then came the call of precincts for the vote. Caldwell county was called by precincts and her 17 votes were cast solidly for James;
Crittenden was called and her twenty votes were added to the James column. Livingston county was called and her vote recorded as follows:

For Gordon, Smithland 3, Grand Rivers 1, Dyer's Hill 1, Birdsville 3, Carrsville 3, total 11; for James,
Sexton Springs 1, Salem 3, Rodfus Shop 2, Panhandle 1, total 7. Hopkins county cast her 32 votes solidly for Gordon. The result was announced as follows: James 44; Gordon 43. A recapitulation of the vote was made, but the result was unchanged.

At this point Mr. Dempsey, of Hopkins, asked to have the credentials of the delegate from Sexton
Springs, Livingston county, read.
The chairman ruled that Mr. Dempsey had the right to examine the credential in question, as they were filed with the report of the committee on credentials. The credentials were read and showed that Sexton Springs had instructed its delegates to cast the vote of that precinct for Gordon. Mr. Stephen Johnson, who was the delegate, claimed that he had the right to cast the vote as he pleased, notwithstanding the instructions. The excitement grew intense; if Johnson cast his vote
according to instructions, Gordon would be nominated; if he bolted the instructions James would be nominated; he chose the latter and amidst the excitement James was declared the nominee. Mr. Dempsey spoke in plain terms of the treatment

Gordon had received, and said we will go home and support the nominee, as best we can, but we have been butchered, our own has been taken from us. Mr. O. M. James said that in defense of himself and his father, that Mr. Johnson, the delegate from Sexton Springs, said that of the 136 votes in his precinct, 130 were for James and 6 for Gordon; three of that six held the district meeting and instructed for Gordon, after promising 25 James men, that if they, the James men, would remain at work, they, the Gordon men, would hold the meeting and instruct for James.

The chair appointed a committee
to escort the nominee to the stand;
his appearance was greeted with applause, especially strong from the Caldwell county delegation. He made a handsome speech in accepting the nomination.

On the streets after the convention, the Hopkins county men were bitter in their denunciation of the work of the convention in defeating Gordon, and there is no question but what there is dissention all over the district, except, possibly, in Caldwell county, over the matter.

Mr. W. W. Stewart, of Smithland, has been visiting relatives in this section.

Batie George, of Hurricane, was in this vicinity last week.

Mayor C. R. Stevens and wife, of Salem, spent Sunday with friends in this section.

Miss Cleo Nunn commenced her school at New Salem last Monday.
We hope the school may prosper under her control.

Without a doubt Mr. O'Hara has the finest crop of tobacco in Crittenden county; it is Burley, and by the way he is one of the best farmers.

The political is showing considerable agitation in this section and to boil for all she is worth between now and the 8th of November.

James Threlkeld and family of Hampton have been up attending the protracted meeting at Union.

Fredonia.

The C. M. Leech farm was rented last Friday for one year for $545.50 to E. R. Martin, and some work to be done in addition to rent.

The tobacco crop is being rapidly housed.

Preparations are being made for an extensive wheat crop, since the good rains last week.

W. G. Glenn, Henry Wilson and Tom Black, of Bethlehem, attended church here Sunday.

Judging from the votes it is now
nearly T. J. Hill instead of T. J. Nunn (None).

Tom Morgan's little girl, who has been sick for several weeks, is not improving any as yet.

The attendance at Sunday school is increasing for the last Sunday or two. Many more ought to attend.

Conyers, of Crittenden, passed through town Sunday evening with a lot of horses on his way to Princeton.

Poisoned Her Son.

The wife of Granville Tyler, color of Trigg county, gave her 7 year old son a dose of strychnine one day last week, mistaking the powder for calomel. Shortly afterwards the child was thrown into convulsions and died from the effects of the deadly poison. A dose from the same package, which was purchased several months ago, is said to have killed a younger child the same way about three weeks ago.—Hopkinsville Kentuckian.

Mr. Joseph Rucker, editor of the Someret Reporter, was shot and fatally wounded Monday night by an unknown assassin. There has been a great deal of lawlessness in Pulaski county, and the editor of the Reporter has been a considerable factor in the attempt to ferret out and bring to justice the evil doers. It is supposed these law breakers assassinated him.

Hon. T. J. Nunn was yesterday nominated for Circuit Judge in the district composed of Caldwell, Hopkins, Crittenden and Livingston.
He is an able and learned lawyer,
and will faithfully and fearlessly execute the laws. Any district would be fortunate in having two such men as Nunn and Allen to offer for the place.—Louisville Post.

Democratic Committee.

The members of the Democratic County Committee are hereby called

SLANDER CORRECTED.

The Given to an Alleged Persecution Recently
Published in the News.

[To the Paducah News.]

Pueblo, Col., Sept. 13.—An article in your paper headed, "Deserted
the third time," in reference to one Linn A. Lemon, wife of Charles Lemon, of Carrville, Livingston county, Kentucky, the writer wishes to refute as a base lie. Mrs. Lemon did not desert her husband in Colorado, but instead he deserted her after heaping insults and all the injury he could upon her poor, unprotected head after her father, Mr.
Crotser left his daughter in Pueblo,
Col., in the employ of a first-class hotel, in the capacity of chamber-maid, and the day he left Pueblo kissed his daughter an affectionate goodbye at the depot ere taking his train, and the good old man knows that to the best of his knowledge his daughter was with friends when he left her, but no sooner had the father left his weeping daughter than her husband commenced his persecutions. His first move was to give bond with a surety for the payment of the purchase money,
to have the force and effect
of a judgment, bearing six per cent.
interest from day of sale, with a lien
reserved upon said property, until
all the purchase money is paid.
Sept. 15, 1892.

Commissioner's Sale.

Western Ky. Lunatic Asylum, P. E.
Against
Nannie Bigham and others, D. P. E.

By virtue of a Judgment and order of sale of the Crittenden Circuit Court, rendered at the June term thereof, 1892, in the above styled cause, the undersigned will,
on Monday, the 10th day of October, 1892, between the hours of 11 o'clock
a. m. and 3 o'clock, p. m., at the Court House door in Marion, Crittenden county, Ky., (being County Court day), proceed to expose to public sale to the highest bidder, on a credit of 6 and 12 months, the following described property, viz:

Two certain town lots situated in the town of Marion, Ky., fronting on Main street, between R. W. Wilson and the Bigham property, 92 1/2 feet, first lot bounded as follows:
Beginning at a stake, thence nearly due west 405 feet to an alley between the Bigham property and Jim Freeman, thence nearly due south
80 1/2 feet, thence nearly due north 92 1/2 feet to the beginning. Second lot, adjoining the first, on the south and of the same size, of nearly 80 feet. Said two lots is a part of the old R.
L. Bigham lot. Also a narrow strip of ground 217 feet long by 12 feet wide and lies between Mrs. Cameron's property and the street, or sufficient quantity thereof to produce the sum of —, the amount of money
so ordered to be made and paid.

The purchaser will be required to give bond with approved security for the payment of the purchase money, to have the force and effect
of a judgment, bearing six per cent.
interest from day of sale, with a lien
reserved upon said property, until
all the purchase money is paid.

NOTICE.

The Sheriff Makes a List of Appointments.

I, or one of my deputies will meet the people at the following times and places, for the purpose of collecting the taxes. All persons owing taxes for 1891 and 1892 must be on hand ready to settle up. Remember that if the taxes of 1891 and 1892 are not paid before November 1, the law adds 6 per cent. to the amount. Es-on hands and settle up, thereby saving the 6 per cent. as well as enabling me to settle with the State.

Howerton's

Actual store expenses are really less than 50 cents per day. We give to our customers all the big rents, town taxes, clerk hire and big insurance, for we have none of this kind of thing to pay. We can show you over TEN THOUSAND DOLLARS worth of Dry Goods, Clothing, Boots, Shoes, Ladies and Men's Hats, etc. We cater to the best cash trade only, and can make hair splitting prices.

We are doing the business because we keep the goods and prices right.

We have done three times the business this season that we did three years ago here, and we want to increase it about one third more.

Let us see you when in need of things to wear

Very Respectfully

Teachers Association.

The Crittenden County Teachers Association will meet at the Marion Academy, Saturday, Sept. 30, 1892. All the teachers in the county are invited to be present.

The following programme has been prepared by the committee:

10 o'clock, Opening exercises.

10:10—10:30, Best method of teaching penmanship in the common schools, by J. L. Rushing; followed by W. T. Davis and Miss Mattie Kevill.

10:45—11, The difference between the old and the new education, by R. H. Adams; followed by R. A. LaRue and R. F. Wheeler.

11:30—1, Intermission.

1—1:20, Primary reading, its importance and how to teach it, by Miss Alice Browning; followed by B. E. Martin and M. F. Pogue.

1:30—2, Sounds of the letters, their importance and how to teach them, by J. F. Price; general discussion, 20 minutes.

2:20—2:40, How can we improve our common schools, by Jesse Crawford; followed by J. B. Gass, Miss Mina Wheeler and T. F. Newman.

Missionary Meeting.

There was held at Sugar Grove church, Sept. 18, an interesting missionary rally. We give below the programme of the proceedings:

The meeting was called to order by A. A. Deboe, who presided during the exercises. After singing by the class the meeting was opened with prayer led by W. J. Hill. W. N. Walker made an interesting address on personal responsibility to the cause. Rev. B. T. Watson spoke earnestly and forcibly for greater cause creation of mind and means to the interest of foreign missions.

After prayer, led by S. D. Jacobs, the meeting took recess for dinner.

The congregation was called together by singing "There is a Fountain Filled with Blood." The chairman called for impromptu talks and the following persons responded:

Rev. W. B. Crowell, W. J. Hill, sister Armeta Lamb, F. H. Phillips and A. A. Deboe.

Rev. B. T. Watson addressed the meeting urging the importance of following the assembly's plans for collections in the different congregations.

Ten dollars was paid in without solicitation. The meeting adjourned with prayer, led by W. B. Crowell.

BURGLARS IN IT.

A Business House Relieved of Goods.

Monday night burglars entered the business house of S. D. Hodge & Co., of this place, and carried away a lot of goods. An easy entrance was effected by cutting out a panel of the rear door, reaching an arm through the aperture, and with the hand turning the key which was in the lock on the inside. A show case filled with gloves, table linens, etc., was entirely emptied. A few pair of boots and shoes were also taken, and probably hats and neckties found their way into the clutches of the burglars. It is difficult for the firm to estimate its loss with any degree of correctness. It is probably between $50 and $150. There is no clue. The street lights were not burning that night and as it was rather dark, the burglars had ample time to do their work in safety.

Saloon Licenses.

Saturday Mr. T. N. Wofford, was in town to renew his application for saloon license at Ford's Ferry. There was considerable opposition to the granting of these licenses, and the opposition was on hand with a petition. The parties agreed that there were 59 voters in the neighborhood, and upon comparison of votes, it was shown that the objectors had the names of thirty of these voters to their petition. Upon being convinced of this, Mr. Wofford withdrew his petition, stating that in his case a majority should rule, and as the vote stood 30 to 29 against him he would make no further fight.

Mr. A. S. Hard, of Dycusburg, presented to the court a certificate from the Board of Trustees of Dycusburg, granting him a coffee house license with privilege of retailing liquor by the drink. He paid the State tax of $100 to the court, and executed bond as the law requires. While Ford's Ferry on the Ohio river goes dry, Dycusburg on the Cumberland is the wet.

Mr. J. W. Skelton to superintend, in connection with themselves, the running of the butter and cheese factory. Mr. Skelton will put in his time between 1:30 and October 3, in visiting the farmers and soliciting milk, arranging routes for wagons to bring milk to the factory. The price for milk was fixed at 10 cents per gallon. Now let every body help to make the enterprise a success from the start. Don't hold back to wait developments, to see if it will be a success. It is to every farmer's interest to build up this business. Its success means a market for a commodity that has heretofore been without a market in this county.

Cultivator and Seeder Combined.

The above cut shows the machine as a cultivator for corn, tobacco and other crops growing in rows. The fenders shown in the cut serve to protect the projecting leaves of the corn, tobacco, or whatever it may be, from injury. The driver comfortably seated regulates the sections with his feet, which rests in stirrups attached to each section. The sections are hung in such a manner as to permit of the freest oscillation. They may be readily moved from side by pressure from the operators foot; levers are geared to each section by which they may be lowered or raised to cultivate deep or shallow, or locked securely in the desired position. To convert into a field harrow it is only necessary to remove the fenders and bolt on the center section. To convert into a seeder bolt on the seed box.

Three Machines in One,

And it is far superior to all other makes for the following reasons:

- 1ST—BECAUSE it's so much cheaper.
- 2ND—BECAUSE it's so much lighter draft.
- 3RD—BECAUSE it has such perfect center draft.
- 4TH—BECAUSE there is no weight on horse's neck.
- 5TH—BECAUSE of the regularity of the seed sower.
- 6TH—BECAUSE there is no jerking of the horse's neck.
- 7TH—BECAUSE it is an ABSOLUTE FORCE FEED broad cast seeder.
- 8TH—BECAUSE the teeth are made from the best quality of highly tempered steel.
- 9TH—BECAUSE it has two levers instead of one, which enables the operator to lift one section over an obstruction while the other cultivates.
- 10—BECAUSE it has a stout wood frame, well bolted, which is much better than a soft rod of iron, liable to get bent and out of shape.

THE OFFICIAL PROGRAMME.

Prepared for the National Columbian Public School Celebration of Oct. 21.

It is now known to all readers of the Crittenden Press that President Harrison has issued a proclamation naming Oct. 21 as the true anniversary of the discovery of America, and recommending its observance by suitable exercises in all the schools of the United States.

A uniform programme for every school in America, to be used on Columbus Day simultaneously with the dedicatory exercises of the World's Columbian exposition grounds in Chicago, will give an impressive unity to the popular celebration. Accordingly, when the superintendents of education last February accepted the plan for this national public school celebration, they instructed their executive committee to prepare an official programme of exercises for the day, uniform for every school.

The following programme has been prepared by the committee:

The schools should assemble at 9 a. m. in their various rooms. At 9:30 the detail of veterans is expected to arrive. It is to be met at the entrance of the yard by the color guard of pupils, escorted with dignity to the building and presented to the principal. The principal then gives the signal and the several teachers conduct their pupils to the yard, to drumbeat or other music, and arrange them in hollow square about the flag, the veterans and color guard taking place by the flag itself. The master of ceremonies then gives the command, "Attention!" and begins the exercises by reading the proclamation.

1. READING OF THE PRESIDENT'S PROCLAMATION. By the Master of Ceremonies.

At the close of the reading he announces: "In accordance with this recommendation by the president of the United States, and as a sign of our devotion to our country, let the flag of the nation be unfurled above this school."

2. RAISING OF THE FLAG. By the Veterans.

As the flag reaches the masthead the veterans will lead the assembly in "Three Cheers for Old Glory."

3. SALUTE TO THE FLAG. By the Pupils.

At a signal from the principal the pupils, in ordered ranks, hands to the side, face the flag. Another signal is given every pupil gives the flag the military salute—right hand, palm downward, to a line with the forehead and close to it. Standing thus all repeat together slowly, "I pledge allegiance to my flag and the republic for which it stands; one nation, indivisible, with liberty and justice for all."

At the words "to my flag" the right hand is extended gracefully, palm upward, toward the flag, and remains in this position until the end of the affirmation, whereupon all hands immediately drop to the side. Then, still standing as the instrument strikes a chord, all will sing "America"—"My country, 'tis of thee."

4. ACKNOWLEDGMENT OF GOD. Prayer or Scripture.

5. SONG OF COLUMBUS DAY. By Pupils and Audience.

Air—Lyons.

Columbia, my land! all hail the glad day
When first to thy strand Hope pointed the way
Hail him who thro' darkness first followed the flame
That led where the Mayflower of Liberty came
Dear Country, the star of the valiant and free
Thy exiles afar are dreaming of thee
No fields of the Earth so exultantly shine
No air breathes such incense, such music as thine.

Humanity's home! thy sheltering breast
Gives welcome and room to strangers oppressed
Pale children of Hunger and Hatred and Wrong
Find life in thy freedom and joy in thy song.
The fairest estate the lowly may hold,
Thy poor may grow great, thy feeble grow bold,
For worth is the watchword to noble decree,
And manhood is mighty where manhood is free.

Union of States and union of souls!
Thy promise awaits, thy future unfolds,
And earth from her twilight is hailing the sun
That rises where people and rulers are one.

A Forgotten Columbus Monument.

It is a mistake to suppose that there was, up to a short time ago, no monument to Columbus in the United States. There is a monumental shaft in Baltimore. It is obscurely placed and is inscribed "Chris. Columbus." It dates from 1794. It was erected by the French consul general, De Amantour, who, with some hundred or more French officers and soldiers, remained in Baltimore after the end of the Revolutionary war.

THE PRESIDENT'S PROCLAMATION.

He Recommends the General Observance of Columbus Day on Oct. 21.

Whereas, by a joint resolution, approved June 2, 1902, it was resolved by the senate and house of representatives of the United States of America in congress assembled, "That the president of the United States be authorized and directed to issue a proclamation recommending to the people the observance in all their localities of the 49th anniversary of the discovery of America, on the 21st of October, 1492, by public demonstrations and by suitable exercises in their schools and other places of assembly."

Now, therefore, I, Benjamin Harrison, president of the United States of America, in pursuance of the aforesaid joint resolution, do hereby appoint Friday, Oct. 21, 1902, the 49th anniversary of the discovery of America by Columbus, as a general holiday for the people of the United States. On that day let the people so far as possible cease from toil and devote themselves to such exercises as may best express honor to the discoverer and their appreciation of the great achievements of his life.

His completed centuries of American life. Columbus stood in his age as the pioneer of progress and enlightenment. The system of universal education is in our age the most prominent and salutary feature of the spirit of enlightenment, and it is peculiarly appropriate that the schools be made by the people the center of the day's demonstration. Let the national flag float over every school house in the country, and the exercises be such as shall impress upon our youth the patriotic duties of American citizenship.

In the churches and in the other places of assembly of the people let there be expressions of gratitude to divine Providence for the devoted life of the discoverer, and for the divine care and guidance which have directed our history and so abundantly blessed our people.

In testimony whereof I have hereunto set my hand and caused the seal of the United States to be affixed.

Done at the city of Washington, this 21st day of July, in the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and ninety-two, and of the independence of the United States the one hundred and sixteenth.

Benjamin Harrison

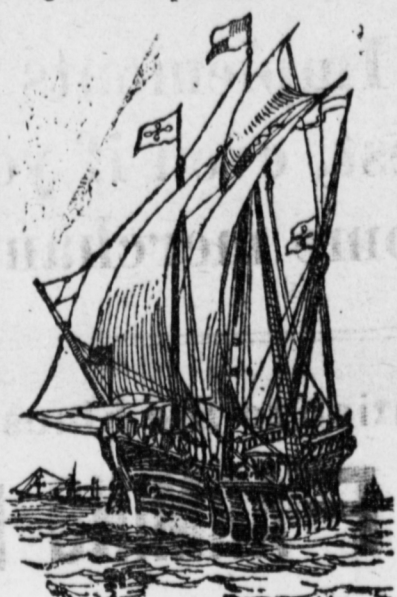

By the President: JOHN W. FOSTER, Secretary of State.

FAMED SANTA MARIA.

COLUMBUS' FLAGSHIP COMPARED WITH MODERN SAILING VESSELS.

The Wonder to the Mariner of Today Is How the Navigator Crossed the Ocean in His Little Caravel—A Facsimile for the World's Fair.

Spain is now in the midst of a series of fetes in commemoration of the discovery of America which will last till late in October. On the 3d of August, date of the sailing of Columbus from Palos, the jubilation began, and of all the sights the exact reproduction of the flagship of Columbus, the Santa Maria, excited most amazement. Among the sailors in the vast gathering there was a loud chorus of astonishment and jubilation. Almost unanimously they declared that such a ship had not done the thing—it was impossible.

THE NEW SANTA MARIA.

It is indeed hard to believe that the little caravel of 240 tons at the outside could have made such a voyage, and when one compares it with the large sailing vessels of today he may well be incredulous. With the achievements of steam and practical science we are tolerably familiar, but the fact that though sailing vessels antedate written history, the progress therein since 1492 is as great as in anything else comes to one as a great surprise. Compare the little Santa Maria with, for instance, the magnificent Shenandoah, the American four masted bark and queen of all sailing vessels, which a few months ago went from San Francisco to Liverpool with 5,000 tons of wheat on board.

Consider first the big sailer. The Shenandoah, commanded by Captain Murphy, was one of the five which left the Bay of San Francisco last year on the famous race around the Horn. They sailed at high tide, of necessity, as they drew twenty-seven feet of water. The weight of wheat aboard, 5,000 tons, was the greatest cargo of the kind ever placed in a vessel and equivalent to 166,733 bushels, or the crop of an average agricultural county. An adequate description of the Shenandoah would fill a column. Sailer as she is, she "makes sail by steam," as sailors say—that is, the sails are pulled into place by a little donkey engine, and of all glorious sights to the seaman's eye there is none more glorious than to see her swell from bare poles to full rig of snowy sails in less than five minutes.

The Santa Maria might have been placed on the deck of the Shenandoah without adding perceptibly to her weight of cargo. She was a decked vessel, and while the Spanish historians do not deal in exact measurements they are so minute in details of her capacity that her size is known. Captain Gustavus W. Fox, after a very careful calculation, declares that her length was "63 feet over all and 57 feet along her keel," with 20 feet beam and 10½ feet in depth. Her crew consisted of fifty seamen, and in the list are found the names of one Englishman and one Irishman. It is really a pity that this list is not certainly known; it would be interesting to know the names of the first Irish emigrant to America. This historic vessel was wrecked on Christmas eve, 1492, on the coast of Hispaniola, a calamity due to the gross carelessness of the sailing master.

Small as she was, her consort, the Pinta and the Nina, were considerably smaller, being mere barks, called caravels, without decks, unless the high prow and stern may be so called. In the center such a vessel was absolutely open and in no respect superior to the fishing craft and other light coasting vessels of the time. That men should have been willing to dare the passage of the stormy Atlantic in such craft gives us a high idea of their courage, and as a matter of fact only Columbus, Las Casas, the Pinzon and two or three other mad enthusiasts were willing. The crew consisted chiefly of desperate characters, compelled to go on the trip. Many were released from prison to go, and some had been condemned to death and volunteered as a bare chance for life.

Our astonishment is but slightly mitigated when we read that Columbus did not ask for large vessels, for there were many in the Spanish ports larger than these. He firmly believed that the voyage would be comparatively short and the sea where he was going always smooth, and he particularly requested such vessels as would enable him to run close in along the shores and sail up the rivers.

On his third voyage, when he actually reached South America, he complained of the size of his vessel, which rendered coast exploration difficult.

The Spanish authorities declare that the Santa Maria of 1492 is an exact reproduction in every detail of that of 1493. It has the same old fashioned shape, the same primitive masts, rigging and sails, and even the same argument of falcons and mortars, halberds and arquebuses. The cabin of the commander is furnished in the style of the fifteenth century, and its table is littered with maps, documents and nautical instruments of the period. Finally, its mainmast is decorated with the royal standards of Castile and Leon, an exact imitation of the flags which Columbus planted in the New World on Oct. 12, 1492. The vessel is manned by an excellent crew, obtained from among the fishermen and sailors of Cadiz and San Fernando, and placed under the orders of a detachment of officers of the royal navy.

At the opening on Aug. 2, the w
